Teaching manners to toddlers is easier than you may think.

Manners start with a smile—then you add the words. There are polite words to use when you greet someone, ask for something, or (oops!) make a mistake.

There's even a nice way to say no.

Involve your child in setting the table. Lead by example and show good table manners yourself. Your child may feel more inclined to copy your behaviour if you promote them to a 'big' chair rather than their highchair. Give them the same kind of place setting as yours but don't give them sharp cutlery.

The Best Way to Teach Manners to a Toddler

Kids tend to get aggressive when they don't know how to express themselves, so if your child starts hitting, take her aside and calmly explain that she has to use her words when she wants something.

Toddler Manner #4:

Use table manners.

This is a big one for me. Kids are disrespecting everyone at the table if they are not using utensils, slurping their soup, or talking with their mouth open among many other rude and gross infractions. Basic table manners are a must, especially in a large family when a lot of people are all eating together.
